

QUEST FOR THE STARS

Exhibit Sponsor Opportunity

About the Exhibit

In 1960-61, 25 women were recruited for testing to see if women could become astronauts. In this privately-funded, non-NASA endorsed project, 13 women successfully underwent the same psychological and physiological testing as the members of NASA's Mercury program, including Ohioan John Glenn. However, the project was abruptly canceled in October 1961. It took more than 60 years for one of those 13 to realize the dream of spaceflight. IWASM's newest exhibit, Quest for the Stars, set to open to the public on October 28, 2022, expands the story of women in our global quest for space exploration, and provides a holistic understanding of women's experiences, drive, and determination in achieving the global enthusiasm for space.

Who Are We and What We Do

The International Women's Air & Space Museum (IWASM) is a 501(c)3 nonprofit museum (Certificate #478387) located inside Burke Lakefront Airport. Established in 1976, IWASM is the only museum of its kind dedicated to preserving, educating, and inspiring people of the world about the contributions of women in ALL areas of aviation and aerospace. Originally established in Centerville, Ohio, the museum has called Cleveland home for over 20 years. To learn more, visit: www.iwasm.org.

Why Become an Exhibit Sponsor

As an exhibit sponsor, you are showing your dedication to furthering IWASM's mission and supporting the continued exploration into STEM fields. Your contribution shows you believe in the importance of preserving, educating and inspiring current and future generations of students to explore all areas of STEM through the lens of those who came before. In so doing, you are also aiding in the economic and heritage tourism growth of our region.

If at any time you have questions, please let us know by contacting IWASM's Executive Director, Sara Fisher at sfisher@iwasm.org or calling 216-623-1111. We look forward to partnering with you on Quest for the Stars.
